FROM THE FRONT AT PETERSBURG. Attack by the Enemy Anticipated—Heavy Artillery Faring—No Material Changes in the Lines—Another Important Cavalry Expedition.

NEAR PETERSBURG, June 24, 8 p. m .- Every disposition of the troops has been made to ward off an attack. Large clouds of dust, indicating off an attack. Large clouds of dust, indicating moving columns, have been seen. It was thought the enemy had designs upon our left, and was massing troops on his right for that purpose. Our lines are long, but connected from right to left by parallel roads, by which we can rapidly reinforce any point assailed.

All day the men have occupied the trenches in anticipation of an attack. Scarcely a man was permitted to leave his post for any purpose. The day closed without any other engagement than that which is continually going on during night and day—the conflict between sharpshooters and skirmishers. No one can tell how soon the struggle may break upon us Every one is braced for the encounter, willing Every one is braced for the encounter, willing to endure everything so that the war may end with the close of this terrible campaign.

Crawford's division, of the 5th corps, slipped from their place in the front, adjoining Burnside's men, this morning. Our batteries engaged the enemy for a short season, occupying their attention until their place was filled, and they gone towards the left. Very little change has been made in our lines. The 6th corps have gone no nearer the Weldon railroad. It is, perhaps, a mile from their advance to the track. They, like the other corps d'armee, are strongly entrenched. A squadron of cavairy started toward Suffolk early this morning. They will probably not stop until they reach Norfolk. I believe the road is in good condition most of the way, at least as far as Zuni.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH. The Rebel Earthworks on John's Island Destroyed.

NEW YORK, June 26 .- The steamer Arago brings Port Royal advices to the 23d inst. The rebel steamer Fox, with an assorted cargo, ran into Charleston on the night of the 7th, and out again on the 11th. Admiral Dahlgren was at Port Royal.

The gunboats Sonoma and McDonough landed a force on John's Island, who destroyed the rebel works and retired safely. FROM THE FRONT.

Operations of Friday-A Rebel Charge on Stannard's Lines-The Storming Party Annihilated-General Wright Destroys Five Miles of the Weldon Railroad. [Correspondence of the Phila. Inquirer.] HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, NEAR PETERSBURG, June 24, 9 p. m.—This morning opened with one of the heaviest cannonades of the whole campaign, and the impression was produced on people at a distance rom the scene that a terrible battle was in progress. It transpired soon, however, that the enemy had merely been wasting ammunition in a concentrated and tremendous but harmless fire upon the troops and batteries of the 18th corps, from his batteries beyond the Appomattox. Terrible as was the storm of shot, shell, grape and cannister that rained along our lines on the right, the damage done was atterly insignificant. The ball opened at about 6.30 a m., and closed at about 9. Our own batteries during this time were not silent, but replied in spirited style. While this artillery fire was raging, a charge was made on a position of Gen. Etannard's division of the 18th corps, by Hoke's brigade of rebels. About four hundred of them succeeded in entering the front line of our rifle-pits-a mere picket line, our skirmishers retiring to main breastwork of the front line of battle. While these were coming in our troops did not fire from the fear that they might hit our own

The rebels, encouraged by this, advanced boldly towards our intrenchments, but the moment our skirmishers had all got in a volley was immediately fired into the ranks of the enemy that mowed them down fearfully. Their progress was all at once stopped, and to retreat was as much out of the question as to advance. While placed in this dilemma our men continued firing rapidly upon them. They made signs of a desire to surrender, which was not at first perceived, but as soon as their wish was ascertained firing was discontinued and they received a cordial invitation to come in The number of prisoners taken was one hundred and sixty-six, and thirty-six wounded were brought off the ground. The remainder of the four hundred must have been either killed or too badly wounded to get away, as the men captured say none went back.

Yesterday afternoon, General Wright, with the Sixth Corps, made a movement to the left and reached the Weldon Railroad, of which he destroyed some five miles. Fires were made along it which destroyed the ties and at the same time warped the iron so as to be unfit for future use. Having accomplished his object he returned to his former position. ASSOCIATED PRESS ACCOUNT.

Rebel Attack on Burnside—A Desperate Conflict—They are Repulsed with Great Loss—Our Loss Small—The Engagement with the Sixth Corps on Wednesday-Condition of Our Army. HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, June 25, 6 A. M., Saturday .- The only fighting that took place yesterday was an attack made by the enemy on Burnside, but whether intended as a feint to cover some more important move, or an attempt to break through his lines, It was a failure. They opened with a heavy fire of artillery, which was returned by our batteries, and the rebels, making a charge, were driven back in confusion, upwards of one hundred of them being captured. This occurred about 8 a. m., and the artillery firing was kept up for an hour, when all became quiet at that point. About the same time a battery opened in front of a hospital on the left of the Fifth Corps, which the rebels seemed desirous of cleaning out, but they were deterred by our guns before any damage resulted to us. Picket firing is still kept up along nearly the entire line, and in almost every hospital are a iew victims of this species of warfare. It is almost impossible for a change to be made in the skirmish line without some loss from the enemy's sharpshooters, and these lines have to be relieved always after dark on that account. The engagement between the Sixth corps and the enemy for the possession of the railroad, on Wednesday was quite severe, particularly in front of the Second Division, commanded by

Gen Wheaton

Only a short distance of the railroad had been destroyed, when the party were attacked by a heavy force of the enemy under General Andrews, supported by Wilcox's division.

Capt. Beattie, of the 3d Vermont, was in charge of the party that reached the road, and he fell back slowly, while the skirmish line held the enemy in check; but a body of the enemy made a flank movement, expecting toturn the left flank of his line of battle. They, however, did not penetrate far enough, although they succeeded in taking a large number of the skirmishers prisoners, principally of the 4th and 11th Vermont Regiments of the Vermont

The enemy afterwards advanced and at-tempted to break through the line at several points, but were met with such a heavy fire from our forces that they were driven back every time with heavy loss.

They finally, at dark, gave up the effort, and returned across the railroad embank-ment, where they took up an advantageous Our loss was very light in killed and wound-ed, while that of the enemy, it is supposed, was more than double.

figures cannot be correctly given. Supplies arrive at the front regularly, and the troops lack nothing in this respect, but they suffer some from the scarcity of water. LATE SOUTHERN NEWS. Details of Gen. Hunter's Movements.

We lost quite a number of prisoners; but the

The Richmond Examiner has the following: Latest from Petersburg. We learned last night that our troops engaged the enemy yesterday afternoon near the Weldon road, and after a short but sharp fight repulsed them handsomely.

Arrival of the Prisoners. A batch of prisoners, taken near the Weldon Railroad yesterday afternoon, were brought to Major Kerrs' headquarters last night, and by him turned over to Provost Marshal Hawes. They state that they belong to the 2d army corps, (Hancock's,) and had been in the trenches around Petersburg up to Monday night. They were then released by a new army night. night. They were then relieved by a new army corps, the number of which they did not learn, it only arrived Monday night, and was four hours in passing.

LATER—Notwithstanding the seeming quiet which prevailed up to the time of the departure of the train, events had begun to develop about two miles south of the city early in the afternoon, which resulted in a glorious victory to cur arms. Mahone's brigade, with another whose name we could not learn, made an whose name we could not learn, made an attack upon Hancock's corps about 2 p. m., and drove them from two lines of breastworks, and captured nearly two thousand prisoners, in-cluding fifty seven commissioned officers, together with four pieces of artillery and eight

The fight was renewed last evening, but the enemy was repulsed in each of his attacks up to last accounts. The enemy's pickets informed our pickets during the day that "Old Abe" was on a visit to Grant. STILL LATER .- D spatches received at half-past ten o'clock last night fully confirm the above. The fighting had ceased with the exception of occasional sharpshooting and artillery firing. The repulse of the enemy in each of his assaults is described as having been easy. Our loss was comparatively small. From the James. There was nothing of importance in progress yesterday; the affair of the batterles and gunboats at and off Howlett's House on Tuesday smounted to little of importance. In the progress of affairs the iron-clad Virginia refusing to work, an investigation revealed a chisel in one of her cylinders, which had slightly in-jured the piston and disabled her for the time. Whether this was the work of treachery or of criminal carelessness remains to be seen. Important from Lynchburg. Passengers from Lynchburg on yesterday state that the last heard from the Yanke raider Hunter was when he had arrived at Liberty. He has gone "kiting" somewhere nobody

A gentleman who arrived from Staunton on yesterday, states that the rebels are no longer seen or heard in that vicinity, nor at Harrisonburg, Lexington and their respective neigh-borhoods. The damage done by Hunter was very extensive, many of the farmers having been plundered of all their grain, cattle and other stock. Every establishment of general public utility was destroyed along their route.

AFFAIRS IN MONTGOMERY .- Out of the 296 persons in this county drafted under the late call of the President for "more men," we learn that all furnished substitutes, were exempted, or paid the commutation money, with the exception of one white man and several negroes, who, not being so fortunate as to have any such resources to fall back upon, were obliged to appear in person, when they were immediately assigned convenient quarters, preparatory to being placed in the ranks.

On Saturday last, Henry Waring, James O. Rabbitt, and John and Henry Horner, Eags., were arrested at their homes, by a squad of Government cavalry, and on Sunday passed through this place, on their way to Washington, on some charge, the particulars of which we have not been able to understand. Two Maryland Confederate soldiers were also arrested in the same section of the county, and accompanied the citizens. The weather for the past few months has been very pleasant, though the nights are rather cool for this season of the year. A good rain would be very acceptable at this time to vegetation generally, particularly to the gardens, which are beginning to show need of it. The prospects of the farmers are, so far as the season is concerned, good, the wheat crop promising a fair average yield—in some localities quite heavy—whilst in a few others we hear of much complaint. The rye is very good, and the oats, though feeling the effects of the dry weather, are doing very well; whilst the grass will afford a heavy swathe. Great apprehensions are felt, however, that serious loss may occur from the scarcity of labor necessary to secure the various crops, and a fine opportu-nity is afforded those in the cities who are seeking work to find it ready at hand in the country.—Rockville Sentinel, June 24.

The lands of Michigan in the region of Lake Superior are being rapidly occupied, the rich mines of lead, iron and gold inviting an extended emigration thither. The crops in Massachusetts are reported to be seriously affected by the drought which seems to be prevalent all over the country.

OFFICIAL.

WAR DEPARTMENT, Provost Marshal General's Office, Washington, June 26, 1961. Circular, No. 25.—Persons not fit for military duty and not liable to draft, from age or other causes, have expressed a desire to be personally represented in the army. In addition to the contributions they have made in the way of bounties, they propose to procure, at their own expense, and present for enlistment, re-cruits to represent them in the service. Such practical patriotism is worthy of special commendation and encouragement. Provos. marshals, and all other officers acting under this Bureau, are ordered to furnish all the facilities in their power to enlist and muster promptly the acceptable representative recruits presented, in accordance with the design herein set torth.

The name of the person whom the recruit represents will be noted on the enlistment and descriptive roll of the recruit, and will be
